

Electronic Documentation and IETM Viewer

Sigma has brought technical documentation into the 21st century. We live in an interconnected world of endless connectivity. Sigma has developed an electronic solution for viewing your technical documents on any device, anywhere in the world.

The Interactive Electronic Technical Manuals (IETMs) that we develop, ensure that your documentation can always be available to you, as long as you have a device with a browser and an internet connection. Sigma's IETM solutions save our clients in terms of physical documentation costs and make support documentation easily available, no matter where it may be needed.

We have many added features such as spares ordering and preventive maintenance schedule management capabilities, thereby decreasing repair times as well as increasing the maintainability of your assets.
